

❖ International Day for Tolerance

- International Day for Tolerance is observed on November 16 every year with an aim to build tolerance among diverse cultures and spread the message that tolerance is an integral part of society.
- The UN General Assembly adopted Resolution 51/95 proclaiming November 16 as International Day for Tolerance back in 1996.
- The action followed the adoption of a Declaration of Principles on Tolerance by UNESCO's Member States on the same day in 1995. In 1995, the UN paid tribute to Mahatma Gandhi on his 125th birth anniversary by kickstarting the commemoration of International Tolerance Day.
- Madanjeet Singh, who was the UN's goodwill ambassador in 2000, sponsored the celebrations that year. He had contributed immensely to bring about communal harmony and peace. Thus, the UNESCO created a prize for the promotion of tolerance and non-violence named the UNESCO-Madanjeet Singh Prize.
